The Future Envelope 2

Architecture - Climate - Skin

The role of the building envelope related to the energy performance of a building and the comfort of the user is significant and, under the aspect of sustainability, is coming into focus more and more. Since the introduction of the double leafed façade, it is obvious how the climate performance of a building can be an important tool for architectural expression.

Following the successful conference "The Future Envelope" in 2007, our goal is to again gather international specialist from the fields of architecture, engineering and research to share information about projects, practical experience and their visions for the future climate-oriented building envelope.
