

Dfl Programme February 2024 students and transition rules for Master Renewal 2024-2025

(v230424)

Introduction

This document presents the programme for students who start the Dfl programme in February 2024. This programme has changed compared to earlier years because of the introduction of the revised MSc programmes as of September 2024. More information on the new Dfl programme can be found here.

In addition, this document also explains the transition rules that may apply to students who start the Dfl MSc programme in February 2024 and have not yet completed one or more of the mandatory courses of the first semester by September 2024.

How to use this document

The first section of this document introduces the programme for February 2024 students.

From the second section, the document focuses on the transition rules. Section 2 provides generic rules concerning the transition to the new programme. Read this information carefully and proceed to the following sections that present the transition rules divided over the following four categories of courses:

- A. Shared Master courses (taken by all IDE Master students)
- B. Dfl specific courses (in the first year)
- C. Elective courses
- D. The Graduation Project

The transition rules for each course in categories A and B are presented in sections 3 and 4. In the left column of the tables you will find the courses of the spring semester 2023/2024 and in the right column their equivalents in the renewed Dfl programme starting from the academic year of 2024/2025. You should make sure to complete one of the courses in the left or right column to fulfil the requirements of your Master programme. Section 5 explains how you can determine the number of electives you should take. Finally, section 6 shows an overview of courses that you might not be able to follow in the new Dfl programme.

2nd year courses

After completing the first year courses, you can proceed to the elective semester where you can take 30 EC of elective courses in or outside the faculty, an internship, study abroad, etc (read more about the elective offer here). Finally, when you complete all courses of your programme, you can do your graduation project.

¹ If you were not able to finish all courses of the Spring semester, the transition rules in table 2 apply to you.

2. Generic rules concerning the transition

- For mandatory Dfl courses with multiple graded components (e.g. project, practical assignment, exam), students are advised to complete all components and finish the course in the academic year of 2023-2024 in order to obtain the credits for the course.
- For courses with a written exam in the academic year of 2023-2024, two additional opportunities will be organised in 2024-2025. These written exams will be organised in the same exam period as they are planned in 2023-2024.
- At the end of the Dfl MSc programme, students who started the programme in February 2024 should fulfil the following requirements in each category:
 - A Having completed the shared master courses offer or an equivalent (see section 3)
 - B Having completed the Dfl-specific courses which comprises:
 - The Dfl-courses offered in the Spring of academic year 2023/2024 or its equivalent in 2024/2025 (see section 4), and;
 - The Dfl-courses of the Fall semester as explained on the previous page (see table 1).
 - C Having completed elective courses with EC equal to 120 minus the EC obtained from categories A + B + D (see section 5).
 - D Having completed the Graduation Project (30 EC)
- The EC of courses in the new programme can differ from the earlier courses. In this case we ask you to make up or use the shortage or surplus of EC in the elective space. This information and the number of EC is indicated in the transition rules on the following pages.

3. Transition rules that apply to the shared courses (A)

Table 2 describes how the shared faculty courses in the February semester transition from September 2024 onwards and the transition rules that you should follow.

Table 3 describes the required courses for Dfl students in case one or more courses of the current Dfl programme (2023-2024) are not completed by 31st August 2024 or with the last offered exam opportunities in 2024/2025.

You have fulfilled the requirements of the Dfl programme when you finished the courses listed in the left column or if you have finished its equivalent or alternative in the right column. For some courses, we offer multiple alternatives from which you can choose. Some alternatives are only offered in academic year 2024-2025.

5. Transition rules that apply to the second year (C & D)

C: Elective courses

As a consequence of the transition rules and the differing EC of equivalent courses, you may have to follow more or less elective EC. This number is determined with the following calculation:

120 EC minus the number of EC in category A, minus the number of EC in category B minus 30 EC Graduation Project = the number of EC that you have to take as free electives (from the offer of Dfl programme electives, from the faculty offer, courses at other faculties or universities, etc – read more about the elective offer here). Also take a look at section 6 to find out which courses may be excluded from this offer.

If due to the differing EC of courses in the new programme you miss 1, 2, 3 or 4 EC to complete your programme (and are not willing to take a 5 EC course), please note that our faculty only offers some 1, 2 or 3 EC electives, but you can also look for the (elective) course offering at other faculties.

D: The Graduation project

The Graduation project remains the same as in 2023/2024 and is worth 30 EC.

6. Courses that cannot be taken in the new programme

Table 4 gives an overview of courses that have a direct equivalent in the new programme. If you completed the variant of the course in or before the academic year of 2023-2024 (left column), you are not able to follow its equivalent in the new programme from September 2024 onwards (right column).
