Under the microscope

Social Safety & Integrity reporting point

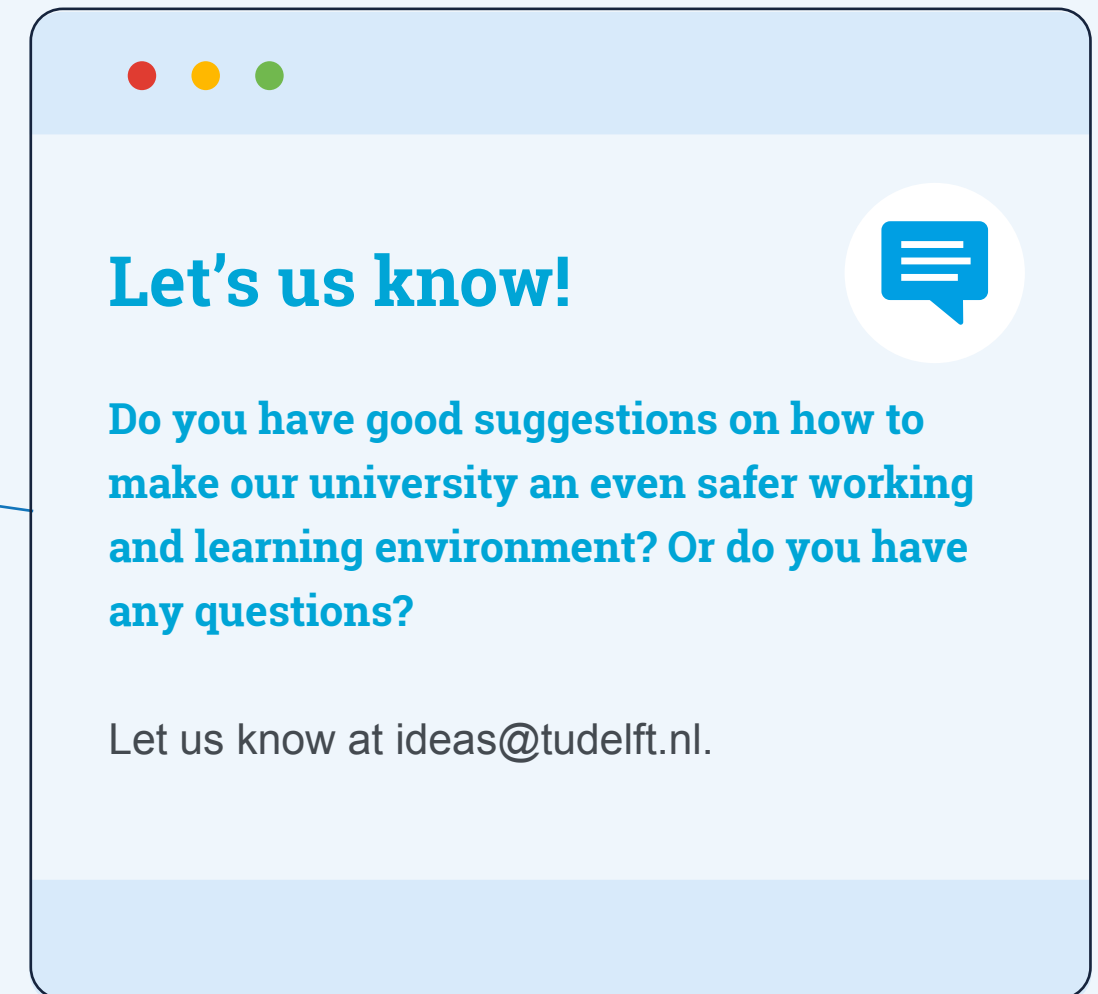

Much work is being done to set up a central reporting point for (suspected) cross-border behaviour and other integrity violations. Setting up such a hotline requires the involvement of all relevant stakeholders: confidants, ombudsmen, student advisers, HR, Legal Affairs, Integral Safety, but also the Works Council, Student Council and unions.

During working sessions and consultations over the past month, these stakeholders have provided good feedback on the scope and content of the reporting point. The implementation phase for the hotline will start after approval by the employee participation body. Then, the moment the hotline will go live can also be communicated.

Upcoming month

- Mindlab performances
- Share & Care
- Leadership@TU Delft
- Development of feedback culture at TU Delft
- Result and development interview (R&O)
